OUR MISSION

United States Rescue, Inc. (USR) conducts fast and efficient regional search and rescue missions to locate missing persons. Our volunteer search and rescue teams, led by former military special operations officers and non-commissioned officers, employ cutting-edge global tracking technologies while activating worldwide search and rescue networks to successfully locate missing individuals.

Headquartered in Las Vegas, Nevada, our nonprofit organization also offers tourist tracking during high-risk excursions and offers member benefit plans covering the costs associated with search and rescue missions anywhere, up to $100,000 per incident. The success of our rescue operations is powered by our worldwide partner network including satellite tracking companies, emergency response centers, GPS device providers, and law enforcement agencies, to whom we provide accurate location information in real time.

Our ultimate aim is to save lives by reducing or eliminating the delays associated with inherent missing person report filing timelines, and expediting the start of land, sea, and air searches in order to locate missing persons quickly and get them home safely.

OUR VISION

United States Rescue, Inc.'s vision is to become the country's leading resource regarding the rapid activation of search and rescue assets through internal growth and mergers with local independent rescue units, while standardizing the training of all search and rescue units.

RECRUITING AND RETENTION

Those considering United States Rescue, Inc. membership, either as a Search and Rescue (SAR) team member or as a member of operational support staff (Tier II/III), should visit the recruiting area of our website at UnitedStatesRescue.com/volunteers and fill out their initial application.

Memberships are year-to-year and should be renewed by those members who'd like to maintain their commitment to saving lives with United States Rescue, Inc. Members are eligible for leadership positions during their second year of service, which ensures proper training and experience prior to assumption of command.

MERGERS AND ACQUISITIONS

United States Rescue, Inc. welcomes those Search and Rescue units comprised of more than fifty (50) active members, seeking to be redesignated as a United States Rescue SAR element. The element will remain together and shall not be disbanded. However, an interim United States Rescue, Inc.-certified Commander will assume command while the previous Commander remains the Executive Officer. The previous Commander will regain command of the element upon completion of the United States Rescue Commander's Course and the completion of the Rescue Training Course. As a prerequisite, each Commander within United States Rescue must have completed these courses.

UNITED STATES RESCUE PROGRAMS

United States Rescue, Inc. provides internal training in the areas of CPR, First Aid, AED, day and night land navigation, human tracking, dive familiarization and training, flight familiarization and training, and other training opportunities.

Additionally, semi-annual Joint Readiness Exercises (JRX) are conducted with local adjacent units by invitation. The JRX is hosted by United States Rescue and invited S.A.R. units may participate in our large-scale training operation.

COMMITTED TO EXCELLENCE

The standards by which our Search and Rescue professionals are selected are high. Our pilots, divers, and ground teams undergo extensive training and physical assessments to ensure they possess the expertise and physical strength to serve. At a minimum, each member must be capable of saving themselves in the event of an emergency during a Search & Rescue operation.

WHO WE SERVE

United States Rescue, Inc. serves our members, customers, and the community by providing search and rescue training and operations.

Our search and rescue elements can be activated by local, state, or federal law enforcement, disaster relief agencies, and other government agencies, upon request. Private activation is also possible with our Search and Rescue Benefit, which provides rapid deployment of search and rescue assets.

Search and rescue asset activation through United States Rescue is possible without the request of law enforcement, disaster relief agencies, or purchasing our Search and Rescue Benefit. However, in order to prevent accidental activation of assets, up-front fees for activation and additional fees for service may be applicable prior to activation of any United States Rescue asset. This enables the unit to maintain readiness for concurrent operations.
